

I am served by AIR 1 on 90.9 at my home and 89.7 as I drive to and from work. I listen to this station because it really is positive and encouraging, and there are no curse words, ugly comments about women, or commercials about special sales on substances I don't buy or condone using. If AIR 1 were to be displaced by an LPFM broadcaster providing other programming, I, and many of my friends and co-workers, would be very upset. We listen to this station because it resonates our beliefs and values, as well as provides a higher quality of Contemporary Christian music than other stations. When we go on trips with others, whether they be older adults or younger teens, we can all agree to listen to AIR 1 and have meaningful conversations about a song or message from one of their supporters. I believe that the service provided by AIR 1 is in the public interest because the public is interested and listens to AIR 1. You see it on the bumper stickers in parking lots across town and hear about it in coffee shops or Bible studies. The airwaves are public access, and AIR 1 reflects a cross section of the public ignored largely by other radio stations. I respectfully ask that LPFM stations not be allowed to expand in a way that would allow them to take priority over current translator services, such as those that allow AIR 1 to be a part of my everyday life.
